

IMPERIAL STORM 4 TURN 5 UPDATE:

Welcome to EHNN,
I am your host, Maximus Centurios Ordo.

The Imperial Storm Wargames have begin and we already have reports of fleet movements throughout the sector. All three teams did not hesitate to secure their footholds near their respective starting points. Currently our sources have confirmed the following worlds now firmly secured byu the following teams:

The Challenge: Batuu & Lao-Mon

The Hammer: Gannaria & Moddell Secundus

The Warrior: Firrerre & Spar Alpha

With these worlds now being locked down by their respective teams, we are hearing reports of Stormtroopers beginning to set up checkpoints and borders around key points on the ground. We also have unconfirmed reports of said troopers now ransacking citizens for specific supplies. Rumored as anything from Zucchini to Ewok Repellent.

In other news,

The spread of the new alcoholic beverages at the start of the wargames has reached to concerning levels. As worlds taken by the three teams begin making known what are called The Chalwar, The Warenta, and The Hammie are being drunk in massive quantities by the citizens of the Emperor's Hammer. What exactly are in these drinks, we will cover on the next opportune moment.

We are also getting reports of...a mass amount of space whales...that are leaving behind...brown colored presents? Around the Hammer and Warrior starting points??

* Who the heck wrote this in the end? Was it Legion again?? KEEP HIM AWAY FROM THE WRITERS!! *

... * cough * ... We will return with more news as we receive it.