

NRI-O-Zeven: Report File: 4622
Action Officer: Privator

I'll admit it wasn't hard to notice the massive influx of signatures from the northerly direction earlier yesterday, it's hard to miss a few dozen Capital warships and who knows how much else. We quickly ruled out misplaced assets or a malfunction, but the alternative... well we all know how little we want that alternative to be true, but it is...

At 21:42 local cycle today I finally heard back from the Spectre scouts I had sent out earlier. Call it confirmed command, it's the same Imperial action group that we encountered northerly near Barrabesh and Tusorix. For now they seem to be dormant externally, which is perhaps the greatest sign since their confirmed presence. They could have easily swept all New Republic defenses this sector aside. Following that dormancy I noticed a strange pattern in communications from some of their command vessels, the wording is mostly gibberish, but the meaning is clear, they've established a sort of sector wide war game in the area against each other.

I don't know how much more clear I need to be about my point on the threat of this group, they play with sectors of wild space like they're games, as if their strength is so massive they can afford to be so expensive and expansive about it. The limited resources available to me and my command will continue to monitor the situation, both on a strategic and operational scale, and attempt to observe and document these war games and their results in the hope that when the Senate finally approves the exorbitant resources we'll need, I will have what those pen pushers need to actually win that war.

Report 4622, Agent Privator out.
