Clash at Moddell Secundus

By DeSean Mclaulis, Reag Marreth and Kellye Finde

---

After a few days of nothing, the eager and bored ISD Warrior Fleet awoke to the blaring alarms of battle. Early in the morning (Galactic Standard Time) all combat personnel reported to battle stations as they detected an unknown- large fleet coming out of Hyperspace.

Kellye Finde who was on one of the Warriors ships during the start of the battle reported the busiest she had ever seen the halls of one ship and the sheer amount of ship lasers passing between the two fleets were uncountable. Kellye has been evacuated to an observation station near the edge of the system.

TIE Defenders of the Warriors Fleet prepare for deployment at Moddell Secundus

Currently it seems our reporters are expecting a Warrior win but currently it is unknown. The News station has deployed numerous Probe droids to record the fighting and currently from our view it seems the Warrior may come out on top, though currently this is just a prediction.

Apart from the fighting at Moddell Secundus, reports are coming in of a tainted batch of Chalquilla which may have caused hallucinations of evil creatures with wizard hats, any sighting of people who may have been in contact with the contaminated batch should be reported immediately.

Who will it be? The ISD Warrior and their new- yet wise Commander or the ISD Hammers Team-Captain? Place your bets today at your local Star Destroyers Bookie.

More news to come.
